1. ADMIN MODULE:

This particular page is meant for the admin. While entering this page the admin has to initially login. After this step this page navigates to subpage which contains two options. When a particular option is selected, it directs to:

a. Page with seeker details:

This page contains complete details of the job seekers. These are the details that were collected from them during their registration. Along with this there is an option to remove a seeker, if it is selected another subpage will be opened which facilitates the admin to remove a seeker by selecting their id.

b. Page with hoster details:

This page contains all the details of the job hosters. These are the details that were collected from them during their registration. Along with this there is an option to remove a hoster, if it is selected another subpage will be opened which facilitates the admin to remove a hoster by selecting their id.

2. JOB SEEKER MODULE:

This page is for the aspirants who are in search of various jobs. Initially this page contains filter options which enables the users to sort the list of various job openings, according to their preference. After successful selection of a preferred job there will be an apply option. When this option is selected, it directs to: (i) Login page:

This page allows the user to login his/her account. If he/she is a new user, then there is an option to create account which directs to: (ii) Create user-account page: This page gets the general information from the user and asks them to create a strong password (user name will be their mail id) and there will be a declaration box which should be selected by the user after he/she reads the terms & conditions fully which will be opened in a separate page if the “Terms & Conditions” option is selected. After successful registration a confirmation mail would be sent to the user and the user has to enter the code comprised in the mail, in the place mentioned in the page which will come along after this step. Later it directs to: (iii) Job application page: This page is the actual application page for the particular job. Here the user has to enter all his professional details. And these details are transferrable. After successful registration, an acknowledgement mail will be sent to the users. Along with this the page contains options to view users’ profile and a feedback area too.
