JOB HOSTER MODULE:

This page is meant for the job hosters who own an organization or in a position of hiring in it. There are several subpages as above. They are:

Login page:

This is the default home page of hoster's part. This page allows the user to login his/her account. If he/she is a new user, then there is an option to create account which directs to:

Create user-account page:

This page gets the general information from the user and asks them to create a strong password (user name will be their mail id). After the selection of create option, it directs to:

Company registration page:

This page is for the users to register their company. Here the details that are entered by the user are kept confidential. And there will be a declaration box which should be selected by the user after he/she reads the terms & conditions fully which will be opened in a separate page if the "Terms & Conditions" option is selected. After successful registration a confirmation mail would be sent to the user and the user has to enter the code comprised in the mail, in the place mentioned in the page which will come along after this step. Later it directs to: (iv) View profile page: Here the details of the applicant are displayed where the edit option is also available. Along with there is an option entitled "Host a job". On selecting this it navigates to: (v) Job posting page: In this the user needs to fill the detailed description of the job and any number of jobs can be posted by clicking the add option. Along with this the page contains options to:

- To view job seekers (only those who opted for the job) details.
- View reviews area too.
